Bodies Found At McKees Rocks Were In Cars Sent Out From Struthers, Ohio

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—Following a trail left cold by months of inactivity, detectives of two states today retraced the "delivery" route of three headless bodies they grimly presumed to be the latest victims of Cleveland's "mad butcher of Kingsbury Run."

The victims, all male, were found in three old boxcars in the nearby Stowe township yard of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. Two of the decapitated bodies were neatly dissected. The third had the word "Nazi" carved across the chest.

Victims Now Number 24

"It looks like his victims number 24 now," was the grim conclusion of Peter Merlo, ace Cleveland detective, who has been working on the Ohio city's torso murder mysteries for the past four years. In a decade, an unknown field has accounted for 12 mutilation murders in Cleveland and several at New Castle, Pa., police believe.

London Hears Report Mussolini Gives U. S. Envoy 'Price Of Peace'

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

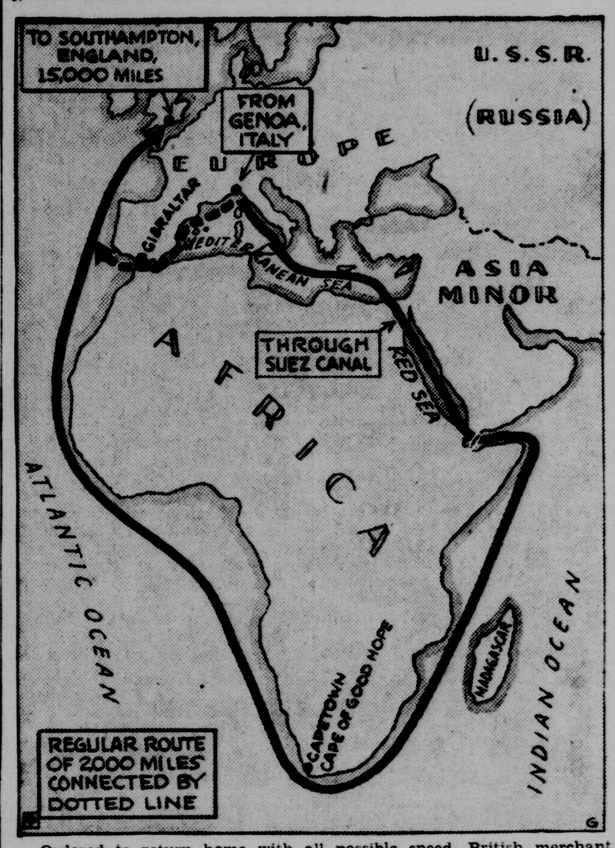

LONDON, May 4.—New reports reached London today that Premier Mussolini has conveyed to United States Ambassador William Phillips Italy's "essential requirements" in the Mediterranean sphere.

These reports stated that in turn Phillips informed the British and French governments on his "price of peace" in that area.

Authoritative British circles declined to confirm the reports, merely reiterating that the Anglo-French attitude in the Mediterranean is "well known" to Italy.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In an exclusive dispatch from Rome last week, International News Service staff correspondent Percy Winner disclosed the Italian demands as follows: Demilitarization of Gibraltar, Malta, Corsica and Bizerte, a readjustment of Tunis and Suez and cession of Djibouti. Authoritative

British Ships Go Long Way Home

Ordered to return home with all possible speed, British merchant vessels are quitting Italian ports and heading for England. What is considered by European observers as highly significant is that the ships have been ordered to take the "long way" home—through the Suez canal, around Africa and up the Atlantic—a 15,000-mile voyage, Genoa to London. It is only 2,000 miles from Genoa to London by way of the straits of Gibraltar.

Mediterranean Draws Interest Of British Now

Large Allied Fleet Is Assembling For Any Developments In Area

COMMONS TO DEBATE NORWAY CAMPAIGN

Growing Criticism Menaces Chamberlain Government Result Of Norway Moves

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 4.—The spotlight of British attention shifted toward the Mediterranean today as war moves near southeastern Europe increased the possibility that the Allies may soon draw the curtain on the waning struggle in Norway.

Just to the west of Suez, the most powerful allied naval combination ever to roam the Mediterranean together lay in wait today for any hostile move by Germany or Italy.

Debate Norway Campaign

An open debate on the Norwegian campaign in the House of Commons next week was looked upon as the forthcoming arena for "airing" the reasons for the allied withdrawals, but a large section of the British public expressed the greatest satisfaction over the arrival of the first contingent of allied naval reinforcements in strategic Mediterranean ports.

Reports of Italian naval reinforcements in the Dodecanese islands, near the Turkish coast, were heavily publicized in London. These rumors, however, remained unconfirmed and there was little disposition to believe that a major Italian decision was imminent. Government sources emphasized the possibilities of a swift change in the Mediterranean situation accompanied by Italian action.

Praise Roosevelt's Efforts

President Roosevelt's peace efforts continued to be praised while it was repeatedly stated that Britain has no intention of taking overt action in the Mediterranean area, that she is merely taking essential precautionary measures.

Germany-Russia Decide To Keep Sweden Neutral

German And Russian Officials Determine Action At Conference

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, May 4.—Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany have agreed that they have a common interest in keeping Sweden out of the war, it was officially announced in Moscow today.

A conference between Russian and German diplomats took place last week and Sweden's future as a neutral nation was settled. The announcement was circulated by Tass, official Soviet news agency, and broadcast by the Moscow radio.

The Russo-German talks were part of arrangements written into the Berlin-Moscow non-aggression past signed last August.

"Both parties established that both governments are interested in the preservation of Sweden's neutrality," the official Russian statement said.

Delegates Ponder Business Matters

State Fraternal-Social Organization Brings Groups From Afar

LEGION LEADER IS TONIGHT'S SPEAKER

Additional delegate groups were arriving as the fifth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Federation and Social Organizations, opened this morning in Moose Temple, South Mercer street, proceeded into its second formal business session this afternoon

More than 70 delegates, from the 40 counties embraced by the state federation, had registered at noon. Leaders said more than 200 names would be on the registration roll by tonight.

The convention represents something like 800 separate clubs and social groups in 40 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties and determines for them, in a large measure, the public relations program which governs the handling of liquor in those clubs. Development of goodwill, brotherhood and fraternalism is also part of the annual meetings.

Ellwood Youth Killed By Train

Struck By B. & O. Train At Frisco Tunnel During Morning

(Special To The News)

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Body of a youth, believed to be that of Robert Dunning, aged 15, an Ellwood City high school student, was discovered on the front of an eastbound Baltimore & Ohio locomotive when it emerged from the Frisco tunnel, near Ellwood City, about 10 o'clock this morning.

The body was badly mangled, and the youth was dead when the discovery was made by the train crew, and the train was stopped. It is believed that the boy was struck by the engine while in the tunnel or near the entrance to the tunnel.

The remains were taken to the W. D. Porter morgue in this city. A sweater of Ellwood City high school team, with the numeral 20 on it, which was a sweater worn by Dunning last fall. Likewise, the boy could not be located when this was written.

Robert Dunning's home in Ellwood City was on Park avenue. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunning.

Washington Man Held For Arson

Business Man Accused Of Solicitation And Conspiracy To Commit Arson

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 4.—For the second time in two months State Trooper William J. Hayes today dropped an underworld disguise and delivered a suspect into the arms of the law—this time a well-known Washington businessman accused of plotting arson for insurance.

The defendant released from jail under $2,500 bond, was Louis Spiro, 58, beer and soft drink distributor and large real estate owner. He was arrested near his home and arraigned on charges of solicitation to commit arson and conspiracy. Spiro denied the charges.

His accuser, Hayes, posing as a "firebug," allegedly made three contacts with Spiro over a period of six weeks, contended he was paid expenses and promised a "cut" from insurance on five houses supposedly listed for burning.

Just a few weeks ago it was Hayes who posed as a professional killer to investigate a purported "murder-for-insurance" plot against a Uniontown tavern keeper. Clayton H. Miller, Brownsville spiritualist and Mrs. Amelia Santilli, wife of the tavern owner, were held on charges of conspiracy to commit murder and solicitation to murder. Hayes charged they agreed to pay him for Santilli's death from insurance on the husband's life.

Excessive Reliance Upon Government Decried By Dewey

(International News Service)

WICHITA, Kans., May 4—Completely recovered from his recent illness(district Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York seeking the Republican presidential nomination, today left here a warning against "excessive reliance upon government."

Speaking at the Friends University, a Quaker institution, Dewey praised William Penn, founding father of Pennsylvania, for advancing the philosophy that "man is the master, not the servant of government," Dewey added:

"He (Penn) must have sensed an inevitable trend toward paternalism in Democratic government. He foresaw what we 250 years later are beginning to see—that excessive reliance of government has the effect of weakening the individual fiber of the people."

Dewey declared that the "unit of value in human life is the individual personality," and added:

"In too many countries the creed is proclaimed that the individual is unimportant, and in its stead nation, race or class is purely up to reverence. The harvest of these false creeds is now being reaped in irregular, war and the destruction of the dignity and happiness of the individual."

Would Provide $197,000,000 For Flood Control

Expenditure Authorized In Bill Introduced By House Flood Control Committee

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4—Expenditures of $197,000,000 for flood control and soil erosion projects had been authorized today in a bill introduced by Chairman Whittington (D) Miss., of the house flood control committee.

The measure, approved by the committee after a series of hearings, would provide $191,000,000 for actual projects and an additional $6,000,000 to be used by the war department of agriculture in surveys for future projects.

The Susquehanna river basin project, for protection at Sunbury, Pa., was included in the measure. This project alone would cost an estimated $1,900,000.

Also included in the bill was the Ohio river basin, Allegheny reservoir and protection projects, $30,000,000.

Germany Claims Warship Sunk

Berlin Says German Bombing Planes Make Hit On Big Warship

BRITAIN GIVES NO CONFIRMATION

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 4—Diving at their target in rocket-like waves, German bombing planes attacked and sank a British battleship of the 35000 ton Warspite class off Trondheim on the Norwegian coast, it was officially announced today.

Several hits were scored on the warship, the Germans claimed, but one heavy caliber bomb apparently pierced the vessel's thick deck armor, exploded and shrivelled the heart of the once-proud ship in a sheet of fire "fifteen hundred feet high."

Claim Heavy Loss

German quarters estimated that 3,000 sailors and troops, the latter being evacuated from the Namsos sector, were "lost to a man." One bomb must have pierced the vessel's ammunition chamber, causing virtual disintegration.

Berlin reports said that general

Last Hours Of Southern Norway Warfare Show German Unit Is Routed

By STEN HEDMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

STOCKHOLM, May 4.—Fighting desperately in the last hours of the war in southern Norway, a small Norwegian force launched a surprise attack and inflicted a stunning defeat on a strong mobile German unit near Elverum, according to details of the battle in Stockholm today.

The attack took place on Thursday in the vicinity of Toertberget, about 30 miles northeast of Elverum, while other organized resistance virtually collapsed with the surrender of Norwegian troops in the Namsos-Trondheim sectors. The surrender followed a hurried allied withdrawal from central Norway.

MINISTER'S CAR USED BY BANDITS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—Three young bandits who used a car stolen from a minister in a swift 'round-the-town series of five gas station stickups and a flight before police bullets were still at liberty today.

The holdup car, showing three bullet holes, was found today. But the gunmen, who in 45 minutes obtained $275 in cash at filling stations in Northside, Lawrenceville, Oakland and Squirrel Hill, had not been caught. Hospitals were being watched on the chance that one of the men might have been wounded by shots fired by Patrolman Joe Palmer and Toby Brown.

The stolen car belonged to the Rev. William V. Parsons, police reported.

Alexandria Hears Italian Fleet Is Now Concentrating

Report Unconfirmed That Italian Fleet Assembles In Eastern Mediterranean

(International News Service)

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 4—Reports of an Italian fleet concentration in the eastern Mediterranean reached Alexandria today on the heels of arrival of a powerful Anglo-French battle fleet.

The reports could not be confirmed, but British spokesmen here emphasized that new allied naval precautions in the Mediterranean denoted full readiness to meet any hostile move by Germany or Italy.

At the same time Britain's strategic base at Malta experienced its first complete blackout. Egypt, too, squared off for possible warlike action and the Egyptian border facing Italian Libya was patrolled by a "desert air watch" for the first time.

A battleship sailed into Alexandria harbor accompanied by cruisers and destroyers, submarines and a depot ship. Seaplanes rode at anchor with their bomb racks loaded.

Crowded House Witnesses Annual Senior Class Play

Give Clara Hartsuff a cast of youngsters that can make a stage entrance without tangling with the drops, and a play that youngsters can do and you'll have a winner. Friday night was an example of that when the graduating class of June 1940 presented "You Can't Take It With You" in the high school auditorium.

If we thought the kids of the class didn't read The News or had the idea that they wouldn't let headlines go to their heads we would be glad to say that it was the best thing a high school class has presented in a number of years. We won't say it but confidentially its true. Casting, presentation and general effect were so good that it sparkled.

Report $500,000 Is Awaiting Woman

Nation-Wide Hunt Started

Missing Woman Has Brother In Sharon Says Dallas Lawyer

CENTER OF SEARCH IS KANSAS CITY

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, May 4.—The spearhead of a nation-wide search for Mrs. Rose Wesner, formerly of Houston, Tex., was directed in Kansas City today. If found, she has $500,000 awaiting her in a Houston bank.

R. B. Humphrey, a Dallas lawyer, came to Kansas City yesterday to continue the search—conducted here because of a letter written in 1917 by the missing woman to her mother in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Humphrey was retained by the missing woman's heirs, a brother John Zitnyar of Sharon, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Shandor of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Helen Mirolli of Uniontown, Pa., they believe their sister is dead and are endeavoring to obtain proof that they may claim her share of the oil property.

The $500,000 awaiting Mrs. Wesner is the result of a joint purchase of land by her and her husband near Houston. They lived on the land for some time and then, in 1917, Mrs. Wesner wrote her mother she was leaving her husband and was returning home by way of Kansas City. That was the last heard from her.

Oil was found on the property in 1931 and Wesner's share of the property was sold to an oil company by the son of a later marriage. Wesner had died some years previously.

LAST HOURS OF WARFARE SHOW GERMANS ROUTED

ed Germans near Toertberget. At least 115 German dead were counted on the battlefield, messages from the Norwegian frontier said. Sixteen other Germans were wounded and captured, including the Nazi commander. All the wounded were treated at the Norwegian hospital in Trysil.

Norwegian booty included 100 automatics, 15 motorcycles and 30 armored cars damaged or destroyed.

Only the narrow reaches of mountainous northern Norway still held comparatively strong allied troops, especially in the Narvik vicinity.

Norwegian announcements said British and French troops completed their headlong and costly retreat from both Namsos and the Trondheim area and "have been landed safely at an undisclosed destination". Whether these troops were taken near Narvik in British warships for storming the iron ore port held by a small German force, was not revealed.

Meanwhile, the surrender of Norwegian units near Trondheim was characterized by the Norwegian legation in Stockholm as merely "a local" action. The legation also branded "false" a sensational rumor that King Haakon's government was secretly negotiating for total surrender to Germany.

Berlin messages indicated the Nazi high command would reject possible peace negotiations offered by the Norwegian monarch or any representative of the Premier Nygaardsvold government.)

CROWDED HOUSE SEES SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Kirbys. The engagament is broken off, Grandpa Vanderhof fixes everything and the curtain falls with everything lovely.

Few more entertaining plays have been written by Moss Hart and Geo. Kauffman and underneath the screwy attitude of the Vanderhofs and the smart lines is a thread of commonsense that can't be missed.

Cast Of Players

The cast in their order of appearance follows:

Penelope Sycamore—Jane Walls. A combination of Jane Ace and Zazu Pitts with a dash of Gracie Allen.

Essie—Catherine Lynch. Always practicing dancing and in our book the practice got results.

Rheba—Natalie Ehrlich. The colored maid who is one of the family.

Paul Sycamore—Max Luikhart. Looked the part, acted the part—gosh maybe he was Paul Sycamore.

Mr. De Pinna—Henry Groomes. An ice man with a soul who lived at the Sycamores. And as nutty as the family.

Ed—Don Howard. A perfect husband for a daughter of the Sycamores.

Donald—Wilbur Hedland. The chocolate paramour of Rheba and a natural for the part.

Martin Vanderhof—Mussell Minick. Stole the show as effectively as though he had backed a truck up to the side door.

Alice—Mary Lou Travers. Another reason why we claim New Castle has the best looking girls in the country. And this one can act..

Henderson—Robert Speed. Knew his part and did it.

Tony Kirby—Don Magill. Did a nice job of courting Alice but then who couldn't. But he did do a nice job.

Boris Kolenkhov—Fred Nahas. The best natural comedian to come out of Senior high school in years.

Mr. Kirby—John Drake. Ice water for blood, a stock ticker for a heart and a dead pan to cover both.

Mrs. Kirby—Audrey Bridenbaugh. A dowager who always seems to smell something bad. And can strut sitting down.

Three men—Tom Gravenstreeter, Charles Cross and Graham McEntire. Three G men with the detecting ability of a backwoods constable.

Olga—Josephine Pelusox. A grand duchess who didn't let her title get her down.

Admirably Done

The cast played together like a winning football team and sitting through a play by this group comes under the heading of pleasure. To add to the evening's pleasure. To high school orchestra presented four numbers under the direction of Joe F. Replogle. As a meringue to the whole evening the Girl's Ensemble, a product of Robert Duff presented two numbers and just for that ought to be made to put on a whole evening's entertainment some night. Mary De Lorenzo and Ethel Welther were heard in a duet that was good.

The house was packed, the first time this has happened in so long that we've forgotten when it occurred before. And in closing you can take it with you, if you are thinking of an evening's genuine entertainment.

MARK POSTAGE CENTENNIAL

Washington stamp

It was 100 years ago, on May 6, that the first postage stamp was issued in England. To commemorate this, both the U. S. and Great Britain will issue centennial stamps. The first stamp, known as the penny black, bore the image of Queen Victoria. The letters in the lower corners indicated the position each stamp occupied on the sheet. This was to help in detecting forgeries. Postage stamps first came into general use in the U. S. in 1847. Two stamps were issued, a five-cent brown one and a 10-cent black stamp, honoring George Washington. Today the cancelled Washington stamp is worth $10 to $20. Much of the credit for post office reform in England goes to Sir Rowland Hill, who proposed that the rate be based on weight rather than bulk. The penny post became a law in 1840 and Hill's idea of postage stamps became a reality.

Got Over Million Out Of Treasury Of Chicago Union

(International News Service)

CHICAGO May 4—The books and records of George Scalise's international building service employees' union were ordered impounded today for the May grand jury as the April jury concluded its term without finishing its investigation.

Chief Justice John Prystalski of criminal court ordered the records held for the new jury after State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney demanded further investigation of charges that Scalise withdrew approximately $1,100,000 from the union treasury during the last three years.

Courtney said he is cooperating with the office of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, which also is probing Scalise's financial manipulations. The state's attorney said every effort will be made to determine whether Scalise is criminally liable in Illinois, and that all evidence obtained in the Chicago probe will be made available to New York authorities.

Deputy District Attorney Victor J Hewitt of New York was in Chicago, working in close collaboration with Courtney.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon in New Castle, with burial being made in Graceland cemetery. Dr. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the local Highland U. P. church, was in charge.

Mrs. Rodgers will be remembered as the former Sis Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Hopkins of Delaware avenue, this city.

Jesse G. Mitcheltree.

Following an operation for appendicitis, Jesse G. Mitcheltree, aged 44, of Meadville, passed away Friday morning at 7 o'clock in the Meadville City hospital.

Mr. Mitcheltree was born in Hubbard, O., on November 22, 1895. He was manager of the Marquette Furniture company in Meadville and was a member of Hubbard, O., Presbyterian church and the Youngstown Masonic lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Ethel Igo Mitcheltree; his mother, Mrs. Millie Mitcheltree of Hubbard; a sister, Mrs. Earl Hoagland of Van Nuys, Calif.; and his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Graham of Hubbard, O.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Stewart funeral home in Hubbard with Rev. Paul Gerrard, pastor of the Hubbard Presbyterian church, in charge. Interment will be in Heywood cemetery, West Middlesex.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and evening.

David Rosenblum.

David Rosenblum, aged 35, formerly of Leasure avenue, this city, died this morning at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Rosenblum was born April 1, 1905, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenblum, both deceased.

Surviving are two brothers, Alex Rosenblum of Youngstown, Abraham Rosenblum of Chicago, Ill., and three sisters, Mrs. Fred Cohen of Youngstown, Mrs. Dorothy Zetlin of Springfield, Mass., and Mollie Rosenblum, of New York.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Campbell's funeral home, East North street. Interment will be in Tifereth Israel cemetery.

for the time being". There was no attempt in British quarters to disguise the realization that Sweden now is helpless to resist German economic pressure.

Speculation continued on the direction of the next German military stroke with the majority belief centering upon the Balkans.

Amid a growing criticism that menaced the government of Prime Minister Chamberlain, opposition parliament leaders including some conservatives prepared a long list of searching questions for the premier to answer during next Tuesday's Norwegian debate. Whatever account Chamberlain gives of his cabinet's conduct in the Scandinavian war, it was certain it will be challenged in several quarters.

There was some suggestion that the debate should be divided into two parts with the first day open to the public and the second secret in order to permit the greatest possible freedom of expression.

for Moose, Eagles, Elks and other fraternal lodges as well as countless other organizations of a fraternal nature.

Joseph M. Shilling, Erie, presiding as president today, will probably be re-elected to that office for another term during the annual election this afternoon, it was understood. He has been president since the federation was formed in 1935, Harrisburg, it was also believed, would be the 1941 convention city.

Tonight the convention group will hear William F Smith, Punxsutawney, past commander of the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion, and then enter into a social program. The affair, it was stressed, is open only to members and friends of the fraternal bodies represented in the convention.

Active in the business sessions today is Carl A. Cassone, Allentown, executive secretary of the federation

The Loyal Order of Moose here, whose lodge home is the convention headquarters, teemed with activity throughout the day. The convention closes Sunday.

DETECTIVES OF TWO STATES JOIN HUNT FOR TORSO SLAYER

all key points in the man-hunt route. It passes by Kingsbury Run, Cleveland, skirts New Castle's "murder swamp" where as recently as several months ago a headless body was found, and passes through Youngstown, O., before reaching Pittsburgh. The three bodies discovered here yesterday were believed to have been in the cars at Youngstown. All were badly decomposed.

Many Detectives On Case

So it was that detectives from Cleveland, Youngstown, New Castle, Butler, Pa., and Pittsburgh planned to motor back over the railroad route for the close checking of possible clues at points touched by the death cars as they rolled leisurely toward a Pittsburgh scrap heap.

One of the victims may have been killed in the boxcar, detectives speculated, one corner of the car was stained, evidently by blood. Sections of the car were removed for bloodstain and fingerprint examination.

At the same time Bertillon experts struggled to bring out fingerprints on the remains of the as yet unidentified bodies.

Past torso murder victims, almost without exception, have had fingerprints and other marks of identification obliterated by burning. Burned portions of a Youngstown newspaper dated last December 11 were found near one of the dismembered bodies.

At Youngstown, investigators hoped to sift through ashes from a fire in the Cedar street freight yards where on February 28 fire mysteriously destroyed several old boxcars. The ashes, they theorized, might hold some clue to disposition of the heads missing from the Pittsburgh-found bodies.

LONDON HEARS OF MUSSOLINI'S PRICE OF PEACE

French sources branded these as inacceptable while a British spokesman characterized them as "a good reason for going to war against Italy.)

Italian circles in London would have nothing to say concerning the Phillips reports.

So far as the general future is concerned, some nervousness was apparent in Italian circles although well-informed quarters said that no immediate break was anticipated.

They regarded with interest President Roosevelt's efforts to avert spread of war into the Mediterranean but were perturbed over an obvious stiffening of the British attitude regarding conduct of the war following reverses in Norway.

It was felt this might have "unfortunate results" at a time when extreme delicacy is needed in the Mediterranean.

Bridge-At-Eight

Bridge-At-Eight club members were pleasingly entertained in the home of Mrs. Albert Jones on Clarence avenue recently, and as special guests she had Mrs. Arthur Carlson, Mrs. Robert McBurney and Dorothy Cain.

In bridge, Mrs. Robert McBurney and Mrs. Craig McBurney were winners of the honor prizes. Following play, the hostess served a most tempting repast.

Mrs. Craig McBurney invited the group to meet with her on Tuesday, May 14.

MANY NATIONS FEEL WAR PRIVATIONS

ECONOMICALLY the burdens of war are about as great for the European neutrals as for the belligerents. Belgium announces that the cost of keeping its army mobilized against the menace of invasion is $350,000 a day, which is a tremendous burden for a country that small. The upkeep wouldn't rise so very much in case of attack. But the horrors of war in loss of lives and in wreckage are such that all the neutrals are willing to pay heavy insurance to avoid the higher penalties if possible.

The discomforts incident to shortage of supplies are also very great, even outside the belligerent areas. Italians are limited to one and a half ounces of coffee a month, which is enough for four or five weak cups. Greece has instituted four meatless and four no-hot-bath days a week. All the other neutrals have set up food rationing systems which allow individuals much less to eat than they enjoyed before last September.

With the exception of Germany's, the British rationing system is most elaborate. Even dogs are required to have ration cards. British doctors are saying brightly that rationing will make thinner, fitter Britons. It may be Britons can get all they really require to eat. But elsewhere people are likely to become thinner to the point of emaciation because of undernourishment.

TRYING TO HANDICAP J. EDGAR HOOVER

The effort to render the head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation unpopular and discredit his work is not confined to the criminal class, many of whose crimes he has brought to light and so prevented others, or to those who in the name of liberty are trying to destroy genuine liberty.

There are some in high places who have made themselves conspicuous by denouncing Hoover and some of his methods.

One of the chief causes of complaint was that the Federal Bureau interfered with and overlapped state and municipal officials whose duty lies in the same field.

On this subject the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association of the largest city in New Jersey, Newark, has this to say: "It has been the experience of our association to receive the fullest co-operation in all matters affecting the enforcement of the law and the apprehension of criminals and we endorse fuliy the policies and practices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and urge that the bureau be encouraged and commended."

Criminals cannot be handled with kid gloves and the policy of appeasement does not work in their case. The attack on Hoover is largely from the advocates of "civil liberties."

Naturally here and there some police official or group may be irritated when the Federal Bureau gets the man that they were supposed to bring to justice but have failed to locate.

The plane and the automobile have made for criminals and outlaws an easy and rapid method of passing state boundaries and the Federal Bureau is then called into action.

There is little danger that the bureau will gradually turn into something similar to the OGPU or the Gestapo as these organizations of Stalin and Hitler are decidedly foreign to our ideas or methods of justice.

BRING THE HATCH BILL OUT IN THE OPEN

When the clique of Democratic politicians in the senate, headed by the inimitable Mr. Minton of Indiana, was unable to prevent passage of the bill extending the Hatch Act provisions to state employees paid from federal funds the strategy was promptly set in motion to throttle it in the house.

The action of the House Judiciary Committee, taken in the darkest secrecy of an executive meeting, is in line with that strategy. It tables the bill, foredooming it to extinction for this session, unless the efforts undertaken by a house group to discharge the committee are successful —and that is extremely doubtful.

What would this measure, so neatly knifed in the back, have accomplished? It would simply have barred from political activity, in the identical manner now prescribed for government workers, those other jobholders who are paid wholly or in part from government funds. It would have protected these employees from partisan macing and exploitation. It was designed to prevent the use of the federal treasury for campaign purposes.

It was a clean politics law. If the present Hatch provisions are desirable, obviously their amplification to cover a larger number of public officeholders would also be desirable.

The methods used by the senate group in opposition to the bill, the filibustering, the peppering with crippling amendments, helped center national attention upon the measure; served, undoubtedly to stimulate public sentiment in favor of it.

Having failed in the senate, the opposition clique is anxious to avoid the same blunders in the house. They don't want to give the bill a chance on the floor. They favor the less conspicuous method of killing it off in the back-yard of a committee.

Perhaps they'll get away with it for this session. Or perhaps their strategy will miss fire once again, and a disgusted house membership will insist on prying the bill out of the Judiciary Committee and giving it a fair chance in a vote.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MAGIC OF MOTHER'S SELF-CONTROL

Any intelligent mother who has mastered self-control has little or no difficulty in bringing up her child well. Self-mastery is the most essential trait for successful parenthood.

Until the child can move about, his control is entirely a matter of self-control by the one who cares for him. His discipline is her discipline. He doesn't even need to hear NO. His mother must train herself, making sure there are some things she must do and some things she must not do, in his care and guidance.

As this child begins walking, becomes a runabout, even when he goes to high school, self-control by the mother and father is essential to his happy and effectual guidance.

Psychology of It

Self-control means planning and sticking to the plans without fail. It means being always calm, and most calm when the child is most excited. It means speaking most softly when the child speaks most loudly. It means being loveliest when the child is ugliest. It does not mean just holding yourself in with great effort. Rather, it means you have so harnessed your emotions that they don't swell up ready for explosion. No one of us, of ccurse, can ever hope to attain these ideals of self-control. Nevertheless, they are desirable objectives and some mothers never losing sight of them do seem about to arrive at them.

We tell parents to ignore the child in certain situations. Sometimes they say they do and think they do, when they don't. They make some outward gestures while the violent feelings are pent up within them, and when they are not watching, these feelings reveal themselves.

A mother writing about an eight-year-old boy with a disagreeable temper can't understand why he does not improve, since she is sure she ignores him entirely when he "gets that way." "For example, we sent him away from the dinner table last evening and all finished our meal in misery, ignoring him."

Feelings Gave Her Away

She supposed she was ignoring him when she didn't look at him or talk to him, yet her feelings and the feelings of the whole family were thundering at him.

Think of all the emotions in the mother over the baby's lack of appetite. Even if she so controlled herself as not to nag at him or say a word, she unconsciously shouts aloud her feelings at him. Our strong emotions, especially those of fear and anger, may be most eloquent when we seal our lips; and the little child is keenly sensitive to these emotions.

We manage our emotions best when we don't have them or think we don't. We do it by planning our way of acting next time we know they are about to seize us; and then by training ourselves to act as we had planned.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you forbid your child, say from three to 10, to play with certain other children within a block, whom you know to be "undesirable children"?

A. As a rule, I would not, so long as they played out in the view of all and were not destroying property or annoying other people. I should not worry much about what my child heard so long as I maintained his love and complete confidence, having always answered all his questions.

Q. Isn't the bully a coward?

A. He practically always is. Therefore, we help him most as we enable him to acquire more physical and social courage, help him learn to defend himself against others his size and age, and to enjoy more successes and approvals that seem to him worthwhile.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Assistant Secretary of State Breckenridge Long, declaring the U. S. has waived the rights of Americans in combat areas in the interest of peace:

"However, this waiver...and the United States' desire to keep out of war should not be misconstrued by any person in this country, or by any government abroad, as a supine acquiesence in the face of any injury to the American people or as supreme indifference to any threat to the independence or freedom of this or any other American Republic."

RED BANK, N. J.—J. Edgar Hoover, head G-man, assailing 'patriotic racketeers' before the N. J. State Police Association:

"I am opposed to vigilantes. I feel that government should be administered by constituted authorities."

LONDON—Maj. Gen. John Hay Beith, war office press chief, decrying war correspondents' complaints at sparseness of 'hot news'

"All the 'hot news' in the world is not worth the life of a single British soldier or sailor."

NEW YORK—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, upon her return from northwest tour a co-manager of Dewey-for-president campaign:

"I have been campaigning since 1896 and there never has been anything like the honest sentiment for a pre-convention candidate as there is for Tom Dewey in the west. Only the crowds which heard Teddy Roosevelt in the 1912 campaign are comparable."

The wage and hour law is not in effect on the farms of this country. If the farmers had to observe it a lot of loafers in the cities would either have to starve or go to work and raise their own eats.

Those who make vegetable gardens will profit by it. Of course it takes some work, and there are a lot of birds who would rather let some one else do the work. Lots of ground can be had for the asking.

It is said that eating lots of garlic will keep down high blood pressure. That will also raise some other things in the way of smell.

Intellectual dinners are those at which diners keep their coffee in their cups.

A French leader tells his people that the road to safety and plenty is hard work. A good thing for him he isn't running for office over here.

There is no doubt but what President Roosevelt wants a third term, but he is afraid of getting licked. That same thing keeps a lot of other people from trying to get things they can't get.

When a timid soul holds an indignation meeting he takes himself off to a quiet corner and weeps.

FATHER KNEW

The bride of a week rushed home to mother and father.

"Oh, it is so terrible," she sobbed in mother's arms. "I just had to come home."

"Yes, darling," said mother. "Do you want to tell us about it?"

"I baked a pie and Charles threw it at me," sobbed the girl.

"The abysmal brute," hissed the mother.

"The fiend," growled father. "Why he might have killed you."

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

If we could hire private detectives to shadow these mellowing women who can always tell you of a new offer of marriage or the heart throbs and heartbreaks she is inflicting upon the opposite sex, we would in the vast majority of cases find that they are victims of male neglect. Like other forms of boasting, this particular one results in most cases from an inferiority complex due to the hopelessness of idle spinsterhood. I add the adjective because busy spinsters seldom foster any morbid worry about the opposite sex, and, what is more, they seldom suffer from neglect from that quarter if engaged in group activity and if possessed of even mediocre attractions.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: Aren't fussy clothes and jewelry for children de trop?—Big Sisters.

Answer: Mothers will display good taste by selecting plainly-made clothes for their children. Little girls have a fondness for pretty dresses of gay shades and chic little hats—and they should have them.

But elaborate jewelry and fussy clothes with fancy ornaments have no place in the wardrobe of the "under-teen" who will have plenty of time later to fulfill her desires for such "grown-up" baubles.

Of course, Miss Little Modern must have her wrist watch to count the weary hours until the gong announces school is over and playtime is at hand. Or her throat may be embraced by a childish little locket and chain—mute evidence of doting parents or an affectionate aunt or uncle. But the fewer her furbelows and the plainer her ensemble the more attractive she will appear to people of good taste.

A preacher is quoted as having told this one:

A prominent actor was guest of honor at a dinner, and the toastmaster, a religious man, found there were not clergymen on hand to say grace, so he called on the actor, who responded like this:

One of the WPA men spoke: "I dug this hole where I was told to and began to put the dirt back in like I was told to. But the dirt won't go back in. What'll I do?"

For a long time the WPA supervisor pondered the problem, then said: "There's only one thing to do. You'll have to dig the hole deeper."

When a Pittsburgh woman had her husband haled into court he found his first wife there also when he appeared. He said he thought she had been killed in an automobile accident. This bird wasn't paying much attention to any of his wives.

Discuss Barkley As Dark Horse
Kentucky Senator Draws Mention
Would Be Suitable To President

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader in the upper congressional chamber, isn't a self-announced candidate for his party's presidential nomination, but he has a certain amount of support from others. Perhaps it wouldn't be an over-statement to call him one of the dark horses—though a very deep brunet one.

Barkley ought to suit President Roosevelt, if the latter doesn't intend to allow himself to be drafted again. That is to say, he ought to suit F. D. R. on personal grounds. It may be that the chief executive doesn't think the Kentuckian would be the strongest imaginable candidate.

However, when the question of the senate's majority leadership was being settled the last time the White House threw its influence to Barkley, to the disadvantage of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who also wanted the post.

Pat, having been beaten very narrowly in the Democratic caucus, which made the selection, possibly still has some little feeling of soreness, but he certainly wouldn't be an anti-Barkleyite in the event of Alben's choice at the coming Chicago convention to head Aunty Democracy's ticket in the ensuing national campaign. The worst Pat might be is a trifle lukewarm.

Barkley Loyal

Anyway, Barkley has been a uniformly loyal New Dealer and on extremely friendly terms with the president. He's been handicapped, as the senate Democrats' leader, due to the refusal of a lot of anti-New Deal Democratic solons to follow his leadership. He's done the best he could, however, and probably he did it as well as anyone could have done.

In short, F. D. R. surely couldn't turn thumbs down on him, should there be a shift in his direction at the Chicago gathering. The odds are against such a shift, but such things do happen. It's at least something that he's being more or less talked about.

Barkley never was known as a super-liberal until the New Deal got into action.

In his early days on Capitol Hill the Republicans (with a few exceptions, like Senators Norris, Borah and Hiram Johnson) were a mightily conservative crowd. The Democrats, in comparison, seemed rather liberal. The Democratic group included several who, today, usually are classified as anti-New Deal reactionaries.

King and Smoot

For instance, Senators William King and Reed Smoot of Utah couldn't understand why one and the same state sent to Washington at the same time a "good liberal" (King) and a rank "old guardsman" (Smoot). At present King's a Democrat whom the New Deal would purge if it could, as a reactionary. Smoot doesn't count, being a Republican "ex".

Back in that period Barkley was about in King's category. But he was no radical.

It was a juncture at which the Russian revolutionary government was in its infancy. Three senators resolved to go take a look at it. They were the late Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, Burton Wheeler of Montana and Barkley. When they came back I tried to interview all three.

Cutting, however, was killed in a plane crash before I had a chance. Wheeler said the Communists were awful, but an improvement on the old czarist regime. (In justice to Wheeler, I should remark that Communism evidently wasn't as bad then as it appears to be now.)

Barkley Silent

Barkley wouldn't discuss his trip at all. I judged that he'd been shocked, but didn't like, as a liberal, to admit it, lest he be suspected of reactionary sentiments. I'll bet he wouldn't have any similar hesitancy now.

They always ask about a presidential possibility, "How old is he? And what's his geography?"

Barkley's age will pass muster—he's 63.

His geography isn't so good. He's south of the Mason and Dixon line.

True, State Secretary Hull is south of it, too. But Secretary Hull is a bigger statesman than Barkley.

Furthermore, Hull's a fair compromise between New-and-anti-New Dealerism, and Barkley's no compromise at all.

The betting's on Hull—always eliminating the third-term proposition.

WORDS

Sometimes the words refuse to come at all
As if from sadness they would keep away,
Or wished awhile in idleness to stay,
Tired of some human's most persistent call.
Sometimes like soldiers into line they fall
Ready for duty, be it what it may;
Again like youngster laughing at their play
They race the page, pursuing hoop or ball.

Words are the servants, and the master, thought,
As all who serve compelled to "stand and wait."
Some into commonplaces shaped and wrought;
Some made eternal by a craftsman great.
Words for man's thinking, swinging into line,
Waiting the splendor of the gift divine.

The White House Opposes

WASHINGTON, May 4.

IT is the opinion of the best-informed observers of the Congressional situation that no important controversial measures will be passed between now and adjournment. The date for that they fix at approximately the middle of June. Actually, if there is to be no action upon the "controversial measures," there is no reason adjournment could not come in a month.

IN this connection it is significant that it is the Administration which is pressing for negative instead of positive action. Usually it is the other way around. Usually it is the White House which exerts its weight to compel a dilatory or reluctant Congress to enact its program. This time the White House is using its influence to prevent measures going through, not to put them through. At this session, curiously enough, there has been no New Deal program, but there has been a very distinct anti-New Deal program. Or, at least, it has been made to appear anti-New Deal by the Administration opposition.

IT is a rather strange state of affairs. With his own party overwhelmingly in control of both House and Senate, Mr. Roosevelt not only presented no affirmative program of his own at this session, but finds himself trying to prevent the passage of a group of important bills, sponsored not by Republicans but by Democrats. Moreover some of them are supported by members of Mr. Roosevelt's own faction of the Democratic party, men who, in the past, have voted almost regularly as the White House wished.

CHIEF among these measures are (1) the amended Hatch Act designed to extend its provisions to State employes paid wholly or in part with Federal funds; (2) the Walter-Logan bill designed to take away the absolute power of the regulatory commissions and give citizens the right to a judicial review in cases where their rights are disregarded

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NAPOLEON AND HITLER.

There is a disposition on the part of Englishmen and Americans, to say nothing of Frenchmen, to belittle Herr Hitler. Hitler is called a "mad man." In the beginning he was described as a house painter, and how could a "mad man" and a house painter plan the future of a great nation? How could he control the brains of Germany? There has been thrown a lot of mud at Hitler. I suppose the contemporaries of Napoleon threw a lot of mud at him also.

There is some parallel between the two men,—Hitler and Napoleon. Napoleon, it will be remembered was the "Little Corporal" from Corsica. He was not considered in the beginning of his career a great General; he was not a great French politician. To be sure he was not a house painter. I think Napoleon had no particular occupation except that of a soldier. Hitler by the same designation is the "Little Corporal" from Austria. That is how he served Germany in the Great War of twenty odd years ago.

It is conceivable that the Creator gave to Napoleon and Hitler the same sort of brains. I never heard that Napoleon paid much attention to astrology, the thing of which Hitler is accused, but Napoleon had the same idea of moving fast in all of his campaigns. Military men will say that Hitler's war campaigns are not Hitler's ideas at all; that they are the ideas of his staff of men about him, headed by Goering, who furnish the brains. I believe that if Hitler is incompetent, he would not have lasted five minutes with the type of men with which he has surrounded himself.

Again referring to the Malthusian political economy idea concerning the control of population, I believe that Napoleon was the instrument in the hands of the Creator to limit the population of the earh, just as I believe that Hitler is another instrument of Providence to lessen the number of human creatures in Europe. Europe is over-populated, there is no question about that. There are too many people trying to make a living in too small a compass.

This may well be the last official visit as president for his successor will be elected at the meeting of Synod at Butler, on May 20-23. Rev. Bagger has served two terms of five years each, which is the constitutional limit.

The choir will render special anthems, one of them in German.

Parsonage Day At Epworth On Sunday

Sunday is to be observed as Parsonage Day at the Epworth Methodist church. Work has been under way for several weeks and the new minister's residence will be ready for occupany about the middle of the month.

The object in setting aside this day is to give all the organizations and members of the church and congregation an opportunity to cooperate with those who have been assisting with time and labor. All the services of the day will be marked by special features including a lecture by the pastor, Rev. W. A. Thornton, on "Joan of Arc," which will be delivered at the evening service.

Guest Ministers At Tabernacle

On Sunday afternoon and evening, following Sunday school, guest ministers will be heard at Gethsemane Tabernacle. Rev. R. D. Pickering, pastor of Everybody's Mission of Struthers, O., will be guest speaker at 3 o'clock.

During the evening service George E. Osman, chalk artist, will draw two pictures and the message will be given by Rev. Byron Sallade of New Brighton.

Special numbers in song will be given by the tabernacle staff and the service is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock. This evening, the song and praise service will be in charge of the pastor, Clifford L. Duncan.

This festival has always been one of the oustanding musical events in this section and the committee, headed by Henry T. Jones, has been working for several weeks in preparation for this day.

Prof. Griffith Jones of Cleveland will direct the singing, with Mrs. John M. Evans at the organ. Solos will be presented by Samuel Lewis, Robert Evans and Miss Florrie Davies. The Brahms chorus will also contribute several selections and a large choir will present "Worthy is the Lamb" and "The Hallelujah Chorus".

The Great Game Of Politics

and the facts ignored: (3) the amendments to the Wagner Labor Act, designed to make administration of the NLRB less prejudiced and give employers some protection against clear injustice: (4) changes in the Wage and Hour law, designed to make it more workable and correct obvious flaws. This last was already been killed by Administration strategists who so loaded it with amendments that its own sponsors voted against it.

ALL of these bills, except the Hatch Act, were efforts to correct the manifest errors of omission and commission in New Deal legislation of former years, concedely drawn in haste and jammed through Congress by the Administration steam roller in the days when the rubber-stamp members constituted a supine and subserient majority. The Hatch Act is in the interests of cleaner politics and operates to diminish the weight of the Federal machine. Through Administration pressure it was practically killed yesterday by being tabled in the House.

IT is reasonable to feel that all four of these proposals were entitled to Presidential support. One would think that Mr. Roosevelt would want to co-operate in the effort to perfect, make workable and more generally acceptable the laws he has put on the statute books. One also would think that, publicly at least, he would favor the extension of the Hatch Act and warmly advocate the principle it represents. So far as the Wagner Act and the Wage and Hour Act there is no suggestion either to repeal or emasculate—only to amend. So far as the Walter-Logan bill there is no disposition to abolish the commissions—only to prevent unwise exercise of unrestricted power.

YET, instead of joining with the supporters, of these proposals to find the best method of dealing with the problems they attack, the President's influence is being exerted to prevent any action at all. Administration leaders do not intend, if they can help it, to let any one of these bills come to a vote. The idea is to kill them by in-action——to let them die in committee or on the calendar. Probably they will, but the White House attitude puts Mr. Roosevelt in the position of refusing to concede that any law passed under his orders is less than perfect.

IT makes him appear unwilling not only to correct a mistake, but unwilling to admit that he can make one—or, at any rate, admit the right of Congress or anyone else to correct his mistakes. It is likely that he will be successful in smothering all these measures, despite the fact that every one of the four would pass if it could be gotten to a vote But it seems an unintelligent policy for the President to carry out with so little concealment. To block proposals so plainly popular so obviously sound merely provides ammunition for the opposition in the following campaign. If killed, all four of these bills will give the Republicans good platform material and fine talking points. Their death can—and will—be laid at the White House door. It will put the New Deal more definitely on the defensive than there is any need for it to be.

BUSY SCHEDULE FOR CITY RESCUE MISSION

New Equipment For Troopers Here

Outdoor Drills Have Been Started For Troop K—Troop Fully Recruited

Captain G. F. Mitchell states that Troop K has received a shipment of new equipment consisting of clothing for troopers, and new flat saddles for the officers.

First of the week, the machine gun platoon had an outdoor drill under the leadership of Lieutenant Atkinson. This was their first outdoor ride and drill of the season. Road marching and march discipline were the main features stressed.

Wednesday afternoon, the mounts of the organization were inoculated for immunity against sleeping sickness, and all the horses have reacted favorably.

The troop is at present fully recruited, with a waiting list of eight eligible candidates.

A special drill will also be held at 2:00 p. m. Sunday, looking forward to the dedication services of the Armory, on May 9.

President Goes To Hyde Park To Spend Week-End

Indicates No New Explosion Is Anticipated In European War Arena

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 4.—Return of President Roosevelt to Hyde Park for a week-end with his mother convinced many observers today that the Washington administration was not anticipating any imminent new explosion in the European war arena.

Railroad officials had orders, however, to be prepared to swing the presidential special train into position within two hours' notice should there be any untoward developments affecting American neutrality in the Mediterranean, the Balkan states or Holland and Belgium.

The chief executive came back to his Hudson valley home completely silent on the nature of the official conversations this government and Italy have been having during the past few days. All he would say was that he was continuing to do all possible to prevent the spread of war to new areas and other nations.

Plan To Attempt Reconsideration For Hatch Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—A battle for reconsideration of the Hatch bill by the house judiciary committee, which scuttled it by a 14 to 10 secret ballot, will be made next Tuesday with a fair possibility of success, champions of the measure said today.

"I should not be surprised if the committee votes to reconsider the bill," said Rep. Guyer, Kan., ranking Republican member.

"There was no real chance to consider amendments to the bill before it was voted on. I would support it with amendments. What we should do is to go through it carefully and consider amendments."

Meanwhile, Rep. Dempsey (D) N. M., drove forward in the hope of persuading 218 members to sign a petition calling the bill directly to the floor.

The petition has been signed by 103 members, including many Democrats. Dempsey believes that the petition can be completed in a few days.

New Transfusion Given To Injured College Sophomore

Dickinson College Injured Youth My Survive Leg Amputation

(International News Service)

CARLISLE, Pa., May 4.—A fourth transfusion was given today to Thomas Reed Hunt, 21, of Bethlehem, Dickinson college sophomore, whose right leg was amputated following its fracture in an interfraterinty track meet a week ago.

Physicians said Hunt passed a restful night but would not say that the crisis was past. Hunt's leg became infected after he injured it in striking a cross-bar during a high jump.

Hunt was told for the first time last night that his leg was amputated on Wednesday.

"I sensed it all the time," he replied.

Blood for the fourth transfusion was donated by William H. Eastment, Dickinson senior and fellow member with Hunt of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Hunt is the son of a Bethlehem Steel executive.

Terrific Blast At Powder Plant In New Jersey

(International News Service)

CARNEY'S POINT, N. J., May 4—A terrific explosion of 4,000 pounds of powder today rocked the powder plant of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours company, of Wilmington, located here.

The blast, occurring shortly before 6 a. m., damaged a brick sieving building where powder is treated with graphite and placed in cartridges.

Plant officials said no one was killed and no one was hurt seriously although two men who ran from a building near the sieving building suffered shock. They were taken to a hospital on the grounds for treatment.

No one was in the sieving plant at the time of the explosion, Du Pont officials said.

National Head Of Legion Will Speak Thursday

Will Be Guest Of District American Legion Posts At Banquet In Cathedral

RESERVATIONS CLOSE TUESDAY

RAYMOND J. KELLY

Arrangements are now complete for the visit of Raymond J. Kelly, National Commander of The American Legion, who will be the guest of the Legion posts of the 26th District, along with other prominent officials of the great World War order on Thursday evening, May 9, at a banquet in The Cathedral.

The life story of National Commander Kelly, who hails from Detroit, Mich., is a typical American story of a boy who rose from humble surroundings to a position of responsibility through sheer personal pluck, determination, and ability.

In his ambition to acquire an education, Mr. Kelly walked six miles each day at the age of 12 years, to attend high school. After graduation he went after a college education, with the same singleness of purpose, working his way through both the University of Notre Dame and the University of Detroit, graduating from law school in 1915 at the age of 20, the youngest man in his law class.

He is now serving his seventh year as corporation counsel of the City of Detroit, the fourth largest city in the United States; is past president of the Michigan Association of City Attorneys; and past president of the Institute of Municipal Law Officers. He has been head of the legal department of the City of Detroit since 1933.

He had just started the practice of law when the World War broke, and entered officers training school at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

He was recommended for a commission, but suffered an injury, which caused his discharge from service on a surgeon's certificate of disability. He immediately entered a hospital, underwent an operation, and as soon as he had recovered, enlisted as a private in the field artillery.

He served with Headquarters Battery, 323rd Field Artillery, as a sergeant, and attended the third Officers' Training Camp there. After completing his course, he was sent to the field artillery replacement depot at Camp Jackson, S. C., from whence he went overseas. While at Camp Sherman, he was associated with many New Castle men, who served also in the 323rd Field Artillery.

He served almost a year in France, was commissioned a second lieutenant at Saumur, France, and later was assigned to the 62nd Coast Artillery. He was commanding officer of Battery F. of that regiment at the time of demobilization. He is active in the Officers Reserve Corps, and is at present, a major of Coast Artillery, assigned to the 536th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft.

Mr. Kelly has been a delegate to 13 national conventions of The American Legion, and has twice served as chairman of the Michigan delegation. He is married and is the father of six children, three boys and three girls.

Reports of all Legionnaires who have tickets on sale will be submitted on Monday evening at the Legion Home. Reservations for the banquet will close on Tuesday, Chairman Clarence S. Jarrett announces.

Court Passes Some Sentences

Fine Of $500 Imposed On Man Who Had Slot Machines At Ellwood

Lotteries and gambling devices paid another dividend in the Lawrence county courts today when Judge W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey held sentence court. James Ferrese was fined $500 and costs for assembling gambling devices. At the time of the visit to his place in Ellwood City, 28 slot machines were confiscated. These will probably be destroyed.

Blanche White, in on a numbers charge, was fined $300 and costs and placed upon probation for two years.

Dominick De Pedro, in for failure to pay the costs in an old case, was sentenced to the Lawrence county jail for 20 days or until he pays the costs.

Harley Shoaf, in for violation of parole, was again placed upon parole.

John Mostsko, larceny of a motor vehicle, was sentenced to Huntingdon Industrial School.

Jesse Burley, in on two charges. For carrying a revolver without a license, a fine of 6 1-4 cents and 30 days in jail. For operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, $100 and costs and 30 days in jail, the two sentences to run consecutively.

Francesco F. Di Vitto, voting unlawfully. Assessed the costs and his voting privilege cancelled for four years.

Filomena Di Vitto, voting illegally. Assessed the costs and voting privilege cancelled for four years.

Frank Witt. In for non-payment of costs and failure to respond to an order for support. He has been in jail for some weeks and this was charged against his failure to pay costs. On the support order he was ordered to get a bond guaranteeing the payment.

Proclamation Designates "I Am An American Day"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Roosevelt has issued a formal proclamation designating Sunday, May 19, as "I Am An American Day" thus putting a new patriotic holiday on the calendar.

The proclamation was drafted in response to a congressional resolution. In it, Mr. Roosevelt recommended:

"I urge that the day be observed as a public occasion in recognition of our citizens who have attained their majority or who have been naturalized during the past year."

In the resolution authorizing the president to issue such a proclamation annually, it was pointed out by congress that "some two million young men and women in the United States each year reach the age of 2 years."

The resolution also said "it is desirable that the sovereign citizens of our nation be prepared for the responsibilities and impressed with the significance of their status in our self-governing republic." The latter applied to citizens recently naturalized.

Civil and educational authorities in states, counties, cities and towns throughout the nation were urged in the resolution "to make plans for the observance of this day".

The annual "I Am An American Day" will fall on the third Sunday of May, which this year is the 19th.

No Persons Hurt In Motor Crashes

Two Accidents Occur Friday On Route 422, Motor Police Report

Following an accident west of the Rose Point bridge, Route 422, State motor police prosecuted Walter L. Neumaier, Bellevue, R. D. 4, O., for reckless driving; and Squire Scott Kildoo of Princeton fined Neumaier $10.00 and costs last night, State police said today.

Neumaier drove a car which towed another. He failed to properly negotiate the bend in the road and the rear car struck a truck and trailer traveling in the opposite direction, motor police report. Considerable damage was done to the vehicles.

The accident occurred at 3:30 p. m., Friday.

An auto allegedly driven by Louden Silvis, 1363 Elm street, Youngstown, skidded off Route 422 near Princeton, struck a culvert and upset at 6 p. m., Friday.

The car contained three women occupants. However, neither Silvis nor the women were hurt. The car was damaged, state motor police reported.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT "SCHEMES"

(Fourth Edition)

FREE ENCYCLOPEDIAS—When a high-pressure salesman states that because of your position in the community, you have been selected to receive a "Free" encyclopedia, his game may be to sell an extension service which includes the cost of the encyclopedia.

FURS—Don't be misled by misleading trade names. When you buy furs, be sure you know the true name of the fur.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS—Don't patronize the merchant who promotes fake "Selling Out" and "Going Out of Business" sales, or who uses tricky signs, e.g., what appears to read "Going Out of Busniess" is sometimes actually worded "Going Out for Business," the word "for" being inconspicuous.

GRASS SEED—Thousands have been stung by the grass seed salesman who promises that his grass will grow no higher than three inches.

HEIRLOOMS—Don't pay good money for articles represented as family heirlooms unless you have determined that they were not recently manufactured; for example, silver-plated brass in wholesale lots, artificially aged, and engraved with various family names.

HEIRS—If someone informs you that you are the heir to an interest in an old and fabulous estate. Investigate! Crooked promoters have fraudulently collected millions of dollars on the appeal for faked legal and other expenses.

HONORARY MEMBERSHIPS—Don't be duped by the award of honorary membership in a fake society of imposing name. You may later be billed $25 for a certificate.

HOSIERY—Bogus silk stocking salesmen offer surprisingly low prices, take orders for future delivery, collect substantial deposits, and then disappear with your money.

JEWELRY AUCTIONS—Beware of fake jewelry auctions. Their auctioneers are skilled actors, and misrepresentation is their stock in trade. By means of "cappers" and fake bids, junk is sold at exhorbitant prices.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DIAGNOSING PREGNANCY

When, some time ago, I discussed the modern diagnosis of pregnancy, I only outlined one chapter in a lengthy story. Once a doctor has diagnosed pregnancy in a woman, his diagnosis of the case is just beginning.

There are a dozen other facts he must or should find out about his patient and her condition. The importance of making a series of visits to your doctor once you know you are pregnant is to give him the opportunity of noting every symptom. In this way he can be sure of knowing if there are any unusual features about the pregnancy.

For instance, most people still think that when twins are born, it is a surprise to everyone. Well, if twins come along unexpectedly like this, it is usually because no doctor has had a chance to make a diagnosis, for today almost every multiple birth is diagnosed ahead of time.

This is done in many, simple ways —excessive size of the abdomen, large weight increases, greater than normal movement in the womb during pregnancy. These all suggest to a doctor that his patient is carrying more than one child. Even more reliable evidence will come from a closer examination of the abdomen.

Sometimes a hand-passed carefully over the abdomen will feel the presence of two figures. This method of determination is of little use until the latter part of the pregnancy, however.

Another reliable test is the detection of two distinct fetal heart beats in the patient's abdomen. When there is more than one baby in the womb, the heart beats will usually differ so that when the examining physician puts his stethoscope on one place he will hear a heart rate of say, 130 beats a minute; then over on another part of the abdomen, he will hear another heart with a beat of 140 to the minute. When this happens, he is quite sure there are twins going to be born to the woman.

This method is only reliable if there is a difference of ten beats. If not there is danger that the doctor is hearing the heart rate of the same baby from two parts of the abdomen. However, one baby's heart will scarcely vary beyond a few beats in an examination, so a difference of ten is safe. Of course, there might be two babies present whose heart beats were very close together. Then the physician will make sure there are two by other means.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

A satisfactory cosmetic pays high dividents to a woman.

It acts as a psychological tonic giving self-assurance.

Some women, however, suffer results contrary to expectations.

Certain skins prove allergic to certain cosmetics.

These are exceptions, but they are demoralizing to the users.

Face powders formerly contained orris root, rice powder or starch.

Delicate skins were often sensative to such ingredients.

Lipsticks may contain bromo-acid and aniline dyes.

Face creams may contain potassium hydroxide and spermaceti.

Freckle removers may contain mercury and zinc sulphocarbolate.

It should be easy to understand how some of these produce the unexpected.

Pity the woman who is allergic to cosmetic ingredients.

Pennsylvania Lumber Is Better Than Most

HARRISBURG. — Pennsylvania's lumber cut last year was approximately 150,000,000 board feet, of which the softwoods, principally white pine and yellow pine, comprise by far the greatest amount.

A greater appreciation and use of Pennsylvania woods by architects, contractors and builders would go far towards helping the employment situation in the lumber industry in the State, according to Chas. E. Baer, Deputy Secretary for the Department of Forests and Waters.

Many builders continue to specify western hemlock, western white pine and southern yellow pine in contracts for new construction and thereby designate that money for equipment and wages in connection with the lumber industry is spent outside of Pennsylvania.

A considerable amount of hemlock is still being cut in Pennsylvania and used in manufacture and general construction and yet the western hemlock is frequently called for in specifications. Eastern hemlock is tougher than most softwoods and practically just as well adapted for general building operations. One opinion advanced for the increased use of western hemlock is the buyers believe that the supply of eastern hemlock in the State is about exhausted.

The yellow pines are another group now being purchased from outside the State. The pitch pine of Pennsylvania, commonly sold under the name "yellow pine", is an excellent wood for certain construction and is, in fact, superior to some of the other so-called yellow pine species. Pitch pine flooring has especially good wearing qualities, and the hard wood is durable in contact with moisture.

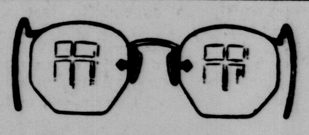

The annual production of hardwood lumber is about one-fourth of the total with oak and maple as the leading species. Hard maple and oak make high grade flooring.

Western lumber is being sold in the eastern markets in competition with domestic lumber whose value for many purposes is equal, if not superior, to the western products. Architects and builders can do much to stimulate local employment and Pennsylvania industries by specifying Pennsylvania woods for construction purposes.

Home builders by requesting domestic woods can help materially in relieving the unemployment situation in such sections of the State where this lumber is available.

Boston Defeats Cardinals 4 To 2

Only Game Played In National League Sees Cards Losing

YANKEES WIN FROM WHITE SOX

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 4.—There are quite a number of soft jobs in this world, it is reported, but managing a major league ball club is not one of them. Ask Ray Blades.

Blades' position today is that of piloting the St. Louis Cardinals, the best-balanced team in the National League—on paper.

In his first season as a major league manager last year, the former big league outfielder boosted the Cards from a sixth place spot to a runner-up berth behind the Cincinnati Reds. This year the other managers in the senior circuit put him on the spot by picking his team to win the flag.

Blades On Spot

An additional headache, it has been bandied about in the best baseball circles, is that Joe Medwick, the Cards' star, doesn't get along too well with Blades and some of the other players. Yet the experts predict dire things for the Redbirds without Ducky Wucky in the lineup.

Also Blades is being criticized by many observers for the unorthodox manner in which he handles his pitching corps. During a game, Blades will yank his twirler on the slightest provocation. Last year this method worked with some degree of success. So far this season it has proven a dismal failure.

Yesterday, the young manager used a trio of hurlers in an attempt to subdue the Boston Bees, but the banjo hitting Bostonians garnered ten safeties to win 4 to 2. Bill Posedel pitched the Bees to their second triumph of the year by setting the ex-gas house gang down with seven hits.

Yanks Win Game

Rain again disposed of all the other games in the National League.

Over in the American League home runs played a major role in the only two games held, New York whipping Chicago, 8 to 4, and Boston edging out St. Louis, 9 to 8, in ten innings.

For the Yanks, Red Rolfe, George Sedkirk and Charlie Keller connected for four-baggers and Rookie Marvin Breuer won his first victory in the big time.

Bimelech, Top Horse In The Kentucky Derby

Here's a new picture of Bimelech, Colonel Bradley's Kentucky Derby favorite, taken at Churchill Downs, Louisville, scene of the historic race. Bimelech was un-defeated last year.

Sports World Ramblings

Local Jottings—So far as is known, the youngest collegiate competing in the American Bowling Congress is a Westminster college student. He is Charley Lipp, 19, a freshman, who is slated to fire away tomorrow. If the Titan scholar could only duplicate a feat he accomplished back in September he'll return with some of that green stuff. William Thompson, New Wilmington bowling czar, told Ye Ed that Lipp rolled a perfect tenpin game last fall. The young man is a Buffalo product.

From the camp of the Beaver Falls Browns comes a favorable report concerning Johnny Carik, local twirler. Friend Ernie Reed, capable valley typewriter manipulator, lists the ex-New Castle high basketball star as one of the yearlings likely to climb the hurdle. Reed believes Carik will stick. Mike Coates, another local pegger, has been granted a protracted leave of absence in order to rest his right leg, which he fractured while playing basketball last season.

Bits Gleaned from the Majors—St. Louis is a hard baseball town. The Cards haven't been doing so well, and the fans are already preparing ultimatums centering on Ray Blades . . .. Paul Dean is being saved for a big show. Said number will feature "Dizzy" and Paul in the Polo grounds soon. A miserable start for the other half of the team will likely spell but one thing—curtains.

Since four southpaws tamed those wild Yankees, American League scouts are scouring the countryside in search of lefties. If you are a portsider and possess a bit of skill on the mound, look up one of the scouts. Bildilli was rescued out of the bushes because he was a forksider. Edgar Smith has been hanging around because of his ability to irk the champs. Thornton Lee of the White Sox usually spends some time on the shelf, getting enough rest for his turn against the Yanks.

Odds and Ends in Baseball—In 1938 Thornton Lee of the White Sox pinned back the ears of the Yanks five times in a row . . . Bobby Feller is considered one of the most polite in major league circles . . . Zeke Bonura showed his appreciation for being rescued from the Giants by helping the Senators lambast Tommy Bridges, of Detroit, in his first showing in the A. L. . . . To Pete Zingaro: Joe DiMaggio smashed a home run with the bases full against Bobby Feller in Municipal Stadium, Cleveland, in the ninth inning of the game you have reference to. The ball settled in the left field stands.

Bimelech Heavy Favorite To Win Kentucky Derby

Only Two Other Horses Given Chance To Beat Bimelech Are Dit And Roman

IMMENSE CROWD TO WITNESS RACE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 4.—"Boots and saddles" will be blared from a bugle to roll out over this historic racing plant late today and shortly thereafter a crowd of some 85,000 berserk spectators from everywhere will have the answer to the burning turf question of the year—Is Bimelech really that good? They want to know briefly whether the Edward R. Bradley three-year-old is one of those virtually invincible thoroughbreds which can and will stand out in even such company as is gathered for today's 66th Kentucky Derby.

"Big Bim," as he is affectionately known, although he actually isn't very big, will get his test against seven or eight other three-year-olds nurtured and groomed for this revered spectacle at 1¼ miles for a winner's share of $60,650 from the stake that includes $75,000 added money. If he can eat up the ground as his record shows he can this is the time for him to prove it, beginning at about 4:30 p. m. (C. S. T.). As usual, Freddie Smith will do the riding.

Very Short Odds

They will be in the No. 2 post position and by the time the bands get around to creating the customary uproar with "My Old Kentucky Home," they probably will be backed down to one to three, or thereabouts, in the wagering. Just two or three of the possible field of nine and probable field of eight are given a remote chance, and then only if the racing strip is muddy. Among these is William Brann's Pictor, hailed as many as probably the best mud-runner of the nine whose names were sent through the entry box yesterday.

Joseph E. Widener's Roman and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Gallahadion are others which would get some support in the event of rain. The weather forecast, however, is for a fair warm day, hence a fast track, hence a breeze for Bimelech—barring accidents.

Martin J. Schmitt, local attorney, is definitely committed to scratching his 200 to 1 True Star, a surprise entry, unless the going is muddy.

Anyhow, the field and riders in the order of post position will be Gallahadion with Bierman Up, Bimelech and Smith, as mentioned, Mioland and Balaski, True Star and West, if they go; Roman and McCombs, Sirocco and Longden, Dit and Haas, Royal Man and Gilbert, and Pictor and Woolf.

With Bimelech an odds on favorite, next to him in the wagering probably will be Dit at about 8 to 1 and Pictor around 12 to 1. After that probably will come Mioland and Roman, then the rest strung out to the rear—in the wagering and in the running.

Arkett And Baxter Win

Charlie Arkett, West Pittsburg, and Russ Baxter of this city won their fights at Niles last night. Arkett won in five two-minute rounds from Steve Wojoic of Lorain and Baxter won by a knockout over Johnny Misto of Youngstown in the second round.

Baxter sent Mito down with a right to the chin in the first and then shot the knockout, a jab to the chin, in the second round.

George Saunders of Youngstown, who fought Milt Taylor here, scored a three-round decision over Joe George of Lorain, O.

The local fighters were handled by Thommy Leach and Clyde Lenox.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

This city has had some great pro fights; f'rinstance, Davies-Wolgast, Grande-Carpentero, Firpo vs Dillon, Fuller, Burns, et. al. but one of the best amateur scraps yet held here was the Milt Taylor-George Saunders battle several weeks ago in The Arena. Taylor won the blood-stirring setto and indications are their next fight which will occur one week from Monday in The Arena should be equally as good, if not better.

George Chip, former middleweight champion has gone on record as favoring Taylor to win a second time. However the ex-king of 158 pounders declared that to win, Taylor must not become careless, otherwise Saunders is apt to knock him for a count of 10. The fight will be staged by the Jefferson A. C. Indications are the club will heed the request of fans and bring back Regis O'Brien and Muddy Kurtz for fights. They are popular in this section. There will be no fight in The Arena until May 13.

Buddy Baer stopped Nate Mann in seven rounds in New York last night....Billy Conn and Gus Lesnevich will box in Detroit during the first week of June....W. & J. golfers defeated West Virginia at Washington, 6-3....Oscar Grimes, utility infielder, Cleveland, was struck in the eye by a line drive during practice at Washington and is in a hospital....Domingo Valin lost in the ninth round to George Hughes last night, in Pittsburgh. The fight was one-sided....Sammy Angott of Washington, Pa., won the National Boxing association lightweight title when he defeated Davy Day of Chicago in 15 rounds in Louisville last night.

West Pittsburg And Bessemer To Battle

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the West Pittsburg baseball team will play the Bessemer team of the county league at the Bessemer field in an exhibition game.

It will serve as a warm-up for both teams. Manager Danny DeGenova has not announced who will do the chucking for the "Gas House Gang". Manager Jim Martin will more than likely use Hardesty or Snyder on the hill.

IN ENEMY TERRITORY

At a Chamber of Commerce meeting in Miami, Fla., a guest for the day happened to be from the state of California. During the meal, the old argument arose as to which of the two states had the most sunshine. "We do," shouted an enthusiastic member of the Miami C. of C., "because we are farther east and get the sun first". The argument was discontinued.

Give Result Of Women's Voting

Ellwood Women's Organizations Select Officials For Ladies Day

MRS. L. E. SPRINGER TO BE BURGESS

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Ellwood City had a unique election day here yesterday when only members of the women's organization of the community were eligible to cast their vote for the members of the various women's organizations who are to run the town on the celebrated "Ladies Day" to be held on Wednesday, May 22.

The election drew a heavier vote per capita than the recent primaries of the regular city, county, state election.

Results of yesterday's election were as follows:

Burgess, Mrs. L. E. Springer, Woman's club.

Chief of Police, Mrs. Elder Anderson, Business and Professional Woman's club.

City Manager, Miss Bessie Runyan, Business and Professional Woman's club.

President School Board, Mrs. Hazel Adams, Woman's club.

Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. F. E. Moore Woman's club.

Borough Secretary, Mrs. I. J. VanGorder, Rebecca Lodge.

Health Officer, Miss Lorena Thompson, Business and Professional Woman's club.

Traffic Officers, Miss Catherine Morrison, Business and Professional Woman's club; Mrs. Hazel Daugherty, Rebecca Lodge; Mrs. Lester Shirk, Junior Woman's club; Mrs. Esther Bloom, Orange Ladies.

Council, Miss Louise Barton, Business and Professional Woman's club; Mrs. Anna Wilkoff, Council Jewish Women; Mrs. Catherine Charles, G. A. R. Ladies; Mrs. Carl Hays, Garden club; Mrs. Harry Caplan, Hadassah; Mrs. Walter Blatchford, Rebecca Lodge; Mrs. Joseph Barson, Hungarian club; Mrs. Genevieve Duncan, Ellwood City Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary; Mrs. Catherine Gross, Ladies Auxiliary S. S. K. U. Verein; Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, Aux. Fr. Twp. Fire Dept.

Fire Chief, Mrs. Lola Wolfe, Auxiliary Ellwood City Volunteer Fire Department.

The presidents of all women's organizations in the community are urged to attend a special program meeting on Wednesday, May 8, at 2 p. m. so that final plans for the "Ladies Day" on May 22 may be formed. This meeting on May 8 will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Memorial Church Annual Banquet

Enjoyable Mother, Daughter Event Attended By 175 Members And Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Completely enjoyed was a mother and daughter banquet held last evening at the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church with 175 members and guests in attendance.

The tables were prettily decorated with early spring flowers and pastel colors by members of Class 19. The dinner arrangements were in charge of Class 17 with members of Mr. Pringle's class serving the delectable meal.

Included in the entertaining program were the following features: Song, "America," assembly; invocation, Mrs. J. E. Pringle; group singing led by Miss Norma Marshall with Mrs. James Marshall as accompanist; reading, Miss Janice McKim; toast to mothers, Miss Laurella Majors; response to daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham; solo, Miss Bernice Turner and a play, "Polly Put the Kettle On," given by Clara Herron, Betty Luther, Charlotte Hall, Janice Evans, Betty Walzack, Betty Benn and Peggy Elders, dramatic pupils of Mrs. Beatrice Andrews.

Mrs. W. C. Jackson presided as toastmistress in a pleasing manner and was presented with a lovely gift and corsage. Attractive flowers were presented by Mrs. Frank Cole to Mrs. Mertilla Houk, the oldest mother; Mrs. Walter Houk, the mother with the most daughters; and Lois Anne Snare, the youngest daughter. Members of Class 4 arranged the fine program.

Among the numbers to be given are: "The Heavens Are Declaring," "Soft As the Voice," "Praise Ye the Father," "The Solemn Thought," "Gently, Lord, Oh Gently Lead Us On." "The Lost Chord," Glory In Excelis," and "Going Home."

To Present Play At Baptist Church

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—A play based on the book of Ruth will be presented Sunday night at 7:45 in the First Baptist church and will be under the direction of Mrs. L. A. Lightfritz. This play has been presented in other churches and always the church has been too small to accommodate those desiring to see it. There are three acts and during the last act a wedding scene takes place.

Following is the cast for the important roles: Ruth, Mrs. Harold McQuiston; Naomi, Mrs. Fred Kaufman; Orpha, Vesta Swick; Boaz, Irvin Dolter; Benjamin, Arthur Lenninger; Elimilech, Harold McQuiston; Mahlan, Zachary Sockaci; Chillion, Wm. Daufen. Beside these there are many others in the cast.

The play is being sponsored jointly by Mrs. G. H. King's class of the First Baptist Church and the members of the Lilyville Church of God.

MRS. JOHN WILSON GUEST OF SOCIETY

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—On Friday evening, members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Church of God were entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Wilson, of Clover avenue. Mrs. John Wilson shared as a special guest.

Mrs. Edward Rider led the devotions with the rest of the evening being devoted to sewing. The hostess served tasty refreshments.

Next Friday, Mrs. E. I. Everhart of Ellport, will entertain.

BRIDGE SCORES

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Five tables of bridge were in play at the weekly party last night at the Elks club with winners being: First, Mrs. Joe Gardner and Mrs. George Fordyce, 43½ points; second, Mrs. James Casey and Mrs. T. Murry, 40 points; and third, James Fitzgerald, Jr., and James McDermott, 39½ points.

ELECTA MEMBERS AT SKEWIS HOME

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4 — Mrs. Everett Skewis, of Todd avenue, welcomed members of the Electa club last evening for the regular meeting.

Five hundred played at two tables held the attention of the group with the nice top honor going to Mrs. Nathaniel Yoho and the low and travel prize to Mrs. George Miller. Billie Skewis aided her mother in serving a refreshing lunch.

The next meeting will take place on Friday, May 17, with Mrs. Clifford Vinroe, of Ellport.

Mrs. Lee Sekulski Is Doremus Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Fifteen members of the Doremus class of the First Baptist church gathered last evening at the home of Mrs. Lee Sekulski, of Line avenue, for the regular meeting.

Mrs. Edith Sarver led the devotions and Mrs. F. L. Schweitzer was in charge of the business with plans being made to give money to the Chinese relief fund and the Baptist orphanage in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. C. W. McDaniel and Mary Lee Turner aided the hostess in serving a refreshing lunch.

Another meeting will be held on Friday, May 10, at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Welton, of Orchard avenue.

Knox Classes Meet On Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—The May meeting of the Adult Bible classes of the Knox Presbyterian church took place last evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Bell, of North Sewickley, with thirty-five members participating.

Mrs. Elmer Moyer led the devotional period and during the meeting plans were made to get new communion trays for the church.

After an informal hour, a tempting lunch was served by the hostess aided by Mrs. Alice Morgan, Mrs. Blanche Mathews and Mrs. Morrison.

Members were invited to meet again on Friday, June 7, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Rice, of Knox.

JUNIOR SOCIETY AT KOACH HOME

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Janet Koach entertained members of the Junior Missionary society of the Wurtemburg Methodist church at her home, in Wurtemburg last evening. Jacqueline Strickhizen was a special guest.

Ruth Marshall was in charge of the meeting and Betty Lee Fox led the business period. A social hour followed with refreshments being served by Mrs. Roy Koach and Mrs. Mary Graham. Friday, June 7, marks the date of the next meeting.

Mrs. Lauderbaugh Tells Of Scouting

President Of Senior Woman's Club Praise Boy And Girl Organizations

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—In regard to the scout membership drive to begin soon in this city, Mrs. Moss M. Lauderbaugh, president of the Senior Woman's club, which sponsors a girl scout troop and which annually contributes to the support of the organization, makes the following statement:

"The standard of living in our homes is on a higher plane because of these organizations. The older people whose responsibilities is to lead and direct these young people realize they have to do their best to live beyond reproach as nearly as possible and in order to advance to the higher degree outlined in the scout code both boys and girls do their utmost to daily look after those things which make life peaceful, happy and useful.

"Our young people who are associated with the Scouts receive education which in addition to the training found in our schools makes facing events in their adult life an easier matter and they are able to become citizens of the world in a more efficient manner because of the ideals and examples set forth in the Scout organization. Training in association with other people, assuming responsibility and considering the welfare of the other boy and girl cannot help but develop men and women who will be a credit to Ellwood City in the years ahead.

"We of the Women's Club want to thank you for the opportunity of telling the boys and girls and their leaders that we appreciate their presence in our town, and trust we can assist whenever we are called upon."

Cable-Myers Marriage News

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4 — An announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Iona Cable, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sharp Cable, of First avenue, to William Myers, of College Hill.

The ceremony was performed on Saturday, April 20, 1940, at Winchester, W. Va., and not in 1939 as was erroneously stated in Friday's paper.

The bride is well known in this city and has many friends being a graduate of the local high school. She has been employed by the Luke-Keller law office.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Has Initiation

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—A regular meeting of the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary was held last evening in the Fourth street V. F. W. Hall with Mrs. Iva Forsythe presiding.

Mrs. June McCune and Mrs. Robert Morris were named as a committee to meet with a general committee to discuss a community center on May 9 at the city building.

An initiation of candidates occupied the social period with a tempting lunch being served by Mrs. V. G. Duncan, Mrs. Earl Duncan and Mrs. Arthur Duncan.

Another regular meeting will be held on Friday, May 17.

MRS. MORRISON IS CLUB HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4 — Mrs. James Morrison, of Line avenue, hospitably entertained members of the D. D. club last evening for the bi-weekly meeting.

Cards occupied the evening with the awards being claimed by Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Henry Stoner and Mrs. Howard Fleeger. In serving a dainty lunch, she was aided by Mrs. Russell Vorhees and Mrs. James Cogley.

On Friday, May 17, another meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Thompson, of Ellport.

LOCAL CLUB MEETS AT EAST PALESTINE

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—H. E. C. club members motored to East Palestine, O., last evening where they were guests of Mrs. Paul Overholtzer. Miss Evelyn Berresford was a special guest.

Cards were in play at two tables with Mrs. John Greenham and Mrs. Rudolph Turner being the high score winners.

After seasonable refreshments were served by the hostess, the group departed to meet again on Friday, May 17, with Mrs. Anthony Reino, of Hazel avenue.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Admitted: Mrs. Charles Z. Bell, Ellwood-New Castle road; Kenneth McDowell, Park avenue; Mrs. Michael Kaiser, Wiley Hill.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Coliazzi, of 13th street, a daughter, on Friday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hooker, of Route 7, a son, on Friday.

ELLWOOD CITY PERSONALS

Miss Helen Garmon, of North Sewickley, is the guest of Miss Elizabeth McCaslin, of West Sunbury, today.

Mrs. Jean Glenn, of Pittsburgh, is spending several weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Garmon, of North Sewickley

Miss Watterson Mission Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Miss Catherine Watterson of North Sewickley pleasantly received members of the Young Women's Missionary society of the Trinity Lutheran church at her home last evening with 10 members answering the roll call.

"Women And The Way In North America" was the discussion topic presented by Miss Virginia Guldbransen.

An informal social hour and refreshments followed with plans being made to meet again on Friday, June 7, for a steak supper at the home of Elizabeth McCaslin, of West Sunbury.

Quiet Rites For Wesley C. Martin

Services Conducted At Porter Funeral Home By Rev. A. M. Stevenson

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—Quiet simplicity marked the last rites held on Friday afternoon at the W. D. Porter funeral home, in Fourth St. for Wesley C. Martin, prominent business man who passed away on Wednesday afternoon at the Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh, following an illness of several weeks.

Rev. A. M. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted the services which were very largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. Many lovely floral tributes evidence the esteem and affection of which he was held by business associates and the community.

Pallbearers were: A. W. Richards, Paul Grannis, Harry Gross, Mr. Berkhart, Mr. Rowl and Charles Cox. Interment was made in the Lutheran cemetery at Zelienople.

WAYNE W. C. T. U.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4 — The Wayne W. C. T. U. will meet on Tuesday evening, May 7, at the home of Mrs. Floyd Worrell, of the Ellwood-New Castle road.

Y.P.C.U. Officers Plan For Convention

Monthly Executive Meeting Held Friday At Jimmy Van Gorder's Home

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—When members of the Y. P. C. U. executive society of Beaver Valley Presbytery were entertained for the monthly business session last evening at the home of Jimmy Van Gorder, Line avenue, plans were furthered for the annual spring convention to be held on Saturday, June 8, at the Beaver U. P. church.

Opening devotions were led by Miss Anna Grace McCoy, and plans were made to show motion pictures to the societies of the work that is being done by Dr. Neal McClanahan in the Assiut hospital in Egypt.

Final sessions of the institute being held at the New Castle and Beaver churches will be held next week. Both classes have been well attended and most successful.

Arrangements were made to hold the Presbytery oratorical contest at the Darlington church on Thursday, June 20.

The resignation of Miss Margaret Ewing, as special study secretary, was accepted. Miss Ewing will take a missionary course in Philadelphia during the summer months.

Appetizing refreshments were served at a late hour with plans being made to meet again on Friday, May 31, at the home of Rev. Chester Yeates in New Castle.

Knox Society At Kimmell's

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Knox Presbyterian church were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Kimmell, of Knox.

After a business meeting, games were enjoyed and the hostess aided by her daughter served a refreshing repast.

MARSH Wonder Walls

BRING BEAUTY INTO YOUR KITCHEN

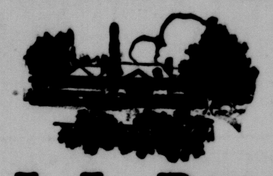

The tile-patterns of Marlite provide new beauty of color for kitchen and bathroom walls. The smooth glossy surface makes it easy-to-clean and long retain its original glistening luster. It is impervious to ordinary acids and alkalis. Walls of this glass-like luster, once an expensive luxury, are now possible in homes of very modest cost. Marlite has won an overwhelming vote of confidence among home owners because of its economy in application and maintenance. Get complete information about Marsh Wonder Walls from your dealer.

Repair and Modernize Your Home

You will save money by keeping your home in repair at all times.

Let us help you finance it with our modern plan

LAWRENCE SAVINGS & TRUST CO.

RENOVIZE

Your Home--Farm--Store--Factory

And Put New Castle's Unemployed to Work

If you do now some of those things that you are contemplating doing later—New Bathroom, Floors, Porch, Breakfast Room, Heating Plant, Garage, etc., it will not only give you the pleasure and comfort that you anticipate, and at a cost that is comparatively low, but it will also help to relieve unemployment at a time when the need is real.

The vacant store, house, apartment or office will rent more quickly, and often at a higher rate, if it is renovated and in condition for immediate occupancy when prospective tenants are shown the property.

As you drive around New Castle and through the surrounding towns, observe how many are taking advantage of this opportunity to RENOVIZE at the time when it can be done with the best results to themselves, those seeking work and the community as a whole.

Progressive, financial institutions, dealers and contractors will gladly make inspections, offer suggestions, furnish estimates and information without cost and, if you desire, assist you in spreading the cost over a period of time.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Quite a few folks are taking advantage of spring and the urge to be a good citizen; thus the result we find in renovizing. Some are painting . . . outside and inside of homes, paperhanging, changing the floor plan; some are planting new shrubs, and some who are very much concerned are building new homes. There is plenty of fun in planning a new home . . . some day we hope to be able to put some dreams to life . . . although our ideas on a house will probably make the contractor go crazy. But getting back to the topic . . . can't you find something to do to make your home more attractive?

Have you been over the new short cut that has been made to take traffic off East Washington street? To find this new route, travel up to where Butler avenue meets East Washington street. Turn onto Taylor and travel down and across Cunningham . . . Go on down until you are almost to Mill street . . . to your right you will find Neil street . . . it is a cut through the hillside . . . and may we say a very nice job. The sides are built up with stone and then above that shrubs are planted . . . these are used to keep the hillside from washing out. The roadbed of this street is in excellent condition at present . . . how long it will continue to be smooth is hard to say, as heavy trucks are expected to take this route. The street department and the W.P.A. did a wonderful job, and again we send them flowers.

Starting on May 17th everyone expecting to get married will be obliged to take a physical examination. This law we think is an excellent one and should be used throughout the world. Requests are coming in for dogs . . . at present it seems that quite a few folks would like to have a watchdog . . . one request is for a German police dog . . so if you have a dog that might fill the bill and you wish to give that dog away . . . write to this desk . . . no charge and you might be making someone happy.

* * *

Tomorrow is Sunday again . . . and from the looks of things today . . . the best thing you could do would be attend a church service. Your pastor will be glad to see you.

Stock Market Is Quiet Today

Market Turns Quiet And Mixed Following Nervous Session On Friday

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, May 4.—The stock market turned quiet and mixed today following its erratic and nervous movement yesterday, as traders held to the sidelines awaiting weekend developments abroad.

Prices were mostly improved at the opening, but many gains were lost later. There was no marked trend in either direction through the second hour.

With Wall Street attention centered on the war developments following the Allied withdrawal from Central Norway, business news received little attention.

Steels were higher for a time, but turned sluggish before the final bell. Motors were mixed, with Chrysler up a fraction and General Motors down as much. Rails held around last night's final prices.

These were typical of general market movements. A handful of stocks dominated much of the day's trading. Rayonier preferred and Crown Zellerbach each reached new highs before meeting profit-taking, but other paper shares eased. Atlantic Refining also was in new high ground in an otherwise dull oil section.

Loew's slipped a fraction to a new 1940 bottom. Du Pont, American Air Lines and Phelps-Dodge each lost a point or more before their slide was checked. Dougles Aircraft, meanwhile, ran up more than a point. Johns-Manville did nearly as well.

Census Dispute

Mrs. Arthur Cline

Imagine the surprise on the face of the Toledo, O., census taker when he queried Mrs. Arthur Cline, housewife, as to the mortgage on the Cline home and was told it was $45,000,000,000. The figure is the U. S. national debt. When the census taker refused to accept the answer, Mrs. Cline called her husband, a lawyer, and he declared the $45,000,000,000 the government owes is a lien or mortgage on his home. Census officials are studying the case.

Direction Signs Will Be Changed

New Style Standards And New Arrangement Of Signs Planned

HARRISBURG. — Changes have been made by the Department of Highways in the standards for directional signs posted along the roads as a guide for motorists. These changes are to be made during the spring operation of the Department and the work is to be completed by May 15.

The tail of the arrow on the direction sign has been removed as a means of making the markers easier for the motorists to read.

In addition signs in the future will be posted differently than in the past. Signs indicating a straight through direction will be mounted on top of a group. Those indicating a right turn will be mounted next to the top with an intervening space while those informing a left turn will be at the bottom. There will be an intervening space to separate these from the signs showing a right hand turn.

Maintenance forces have been directed to repaint the signs for summer traffic. The tails of the arrows will be eliminated during this operation. All signs will have a quarter-inch black border.

The lettering numerals, arrow and margin on all signs will be painted in black with the remainder of the poster white. Mileage distances will be placed at the rear of the arrow.

All signs will be on boards three feet in length and six inches high unless a longer sign is necessary to meet peculiar conditions. In that event all signs of the group will be of the same length. The lettering and numerals on the signs will be four inches high.

Camera Contest Planned In State

Cash Prizes Are Offered For Scenic Views Of Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG—A million beauty spots and hundreds of historic sites and shrines in Pennsylvania, miles of paper-smooth highways, winding streams, sparkling lakes and rugged mountains call to camera lovers.

Thousands of photographers this season will record the beauty of the Pennsylvania countryside in photographs that may be entered in a contest sponsored by the State Department of Commerce. The contest gets under way this week and runs from May 1 to September 14. A committee of judges then will select the winners and award the prizes for the best through-the-lens views of a Pennsylvania background snapped between those dates.

The first prise will be $250; second prize, $100; third prize, $75; fourth prize, $50; there are six prizes of $25 each; 25 prizes at $10 each and 25 prizes at $5 each.

All entries must be sent to the Department of Commerce Photographic Contest. On the back of each print must appear the name and address of the sender, the title of the picture, the date of exposure, the place where taken and a description of the subject. Prints must be sent unmounted and all prints must be 5 x 7 inches or larger.

Hemlock State's Official Tree

New Coat Of Green Makes It Beauty Of Pennsylvania Forests

HARRISBURG. — Hemlock, the State Tree of Pennsylvania, is one of the most beautiful of forest trees, especially during the spring.

The new spring growth of the hemlock is tipped with a delicate pale green that forms a delightful contrast to the richer and deeper hue of the branches, R. Lynn Emerick, Chief of the Bureau of Forests and Waters, said today.

Contrary to an impression in some sections of the State, the hemlock is not poisonous. Instead, it has been highly valued for its medicinal properties, especially by the American Indians and the early settlers. Oil of hemlock, distilled from the leaves, has been used medicinally for many years. The pitch extracted from the leaves and roots is made into plasters for external application to the body.

Hemlock lumber has a great variety of uses and is used for building and construction material. In 1899, the banner year for lumbering in Pennsylvania, the cut of hemlock comprised two-thirds of the entire lumber production.

The hemlock is still today, as it was of old, the tree most typical of the forests of Pennsylvania. Its scientific name is Tsuga canadensis. Tsuga is not of Indian origin, as many people suppose. It is Japanese.

Stephen De Masi of New Castle files a suit against John Hudson and Nathen Rosenbloom asking for damages of $500 due to an accident on the Ellwood Road July 6, 1938, at 2:40 p. m. The plaintiff avers that on that date a truck owned by Rosenbloom was parked on the Ellwood road without any warning signals or lights being put out. Hudson driving a pleasure car came up in back of the truck and swung out to pass.

As he was passing the plaintiff came along in a WPA truck and in order to avoid an accident pulled out and hit a culvert, damaging the truck and injuring him.

If the Democratic party had not had so many candidates for delegate at-large and alternate-delegate-at-large the offical return board would be well on the way to completion of their work they seem to think. Eighten names were filed for sixteen places as delegate-at-large and 16 for alternate. Every one of them got votes and the vote in the 100 precincts for the 34 candidates takes some compiling.

The race between Bernard W. N. Chill of New Bedford and Clyde M. Buzard of Ellwood City for the second district nomination to the General Assembly on the Democratic ticket remains unsettled yet. The official count may show enough discrepancies to change the apparent result and until the board gets around to actually checking the work sheets of the election boards nothing can be determined.

BUY MACHINES TO PAINT ROAD LINES

HARRISBURG. — Purchase of eleven new mechanically driven machines for use in Painting traffic lines has been approved by the Department of Highways. The machines, one for each engineering district, were purchased at a cost of approximately $6,500.

The Department will experiment with the new machine in an effort to speed up application of traffic and fog lines on the highways. They will be put in use within the next few days, officials say.

The new machines are operated by motor and are capable of moving from three to five miles an hour. They are guided by an operator. The machines spray the paint on to the road surface by means of compressed air generated by the motor.

C. D. Of A. To Have Initiation Sunday

Ceremony Will Commence At 3:30 O'clock At The Castleton; Banquet Follows At 5:30 O'clock

A memorable occasion for members of the local Court Teresa Irene No. 231, Catholic Daughters of America, will take place Sunday afternoon, May 5, at The Castleton, at which time their annual formal initiation services and banquet will be conducted.

The event is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock in The Castleton ballroom. Two officers, Miss Margaret McHugh of Uniontown, vice-state regent, and Della K. Crawford, district deputy of Midland, will be present.

Mrs. Evelyn Woods has been chosen as toastmistress during the afternoon services. Grand regent for the local C. D. of A. court is Mrs. Marie J. Metz. At this initiation, a large class of 32 members will be welcomed and initiated into the organization.

On Sunday morning at 8 o'clock the local court will go to communion in a body at St. Joseph's church. The Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, chaplain of the court, will be celebrant.

Following the initiation services, a banquet will be tendered to members and guests in the dining room of The Castleton. Serving will start at 5:30 o'clock.

Priests from the surrounding vicinity, as well as local priests, will attend the services and banquet. Guests are expected to be present.
